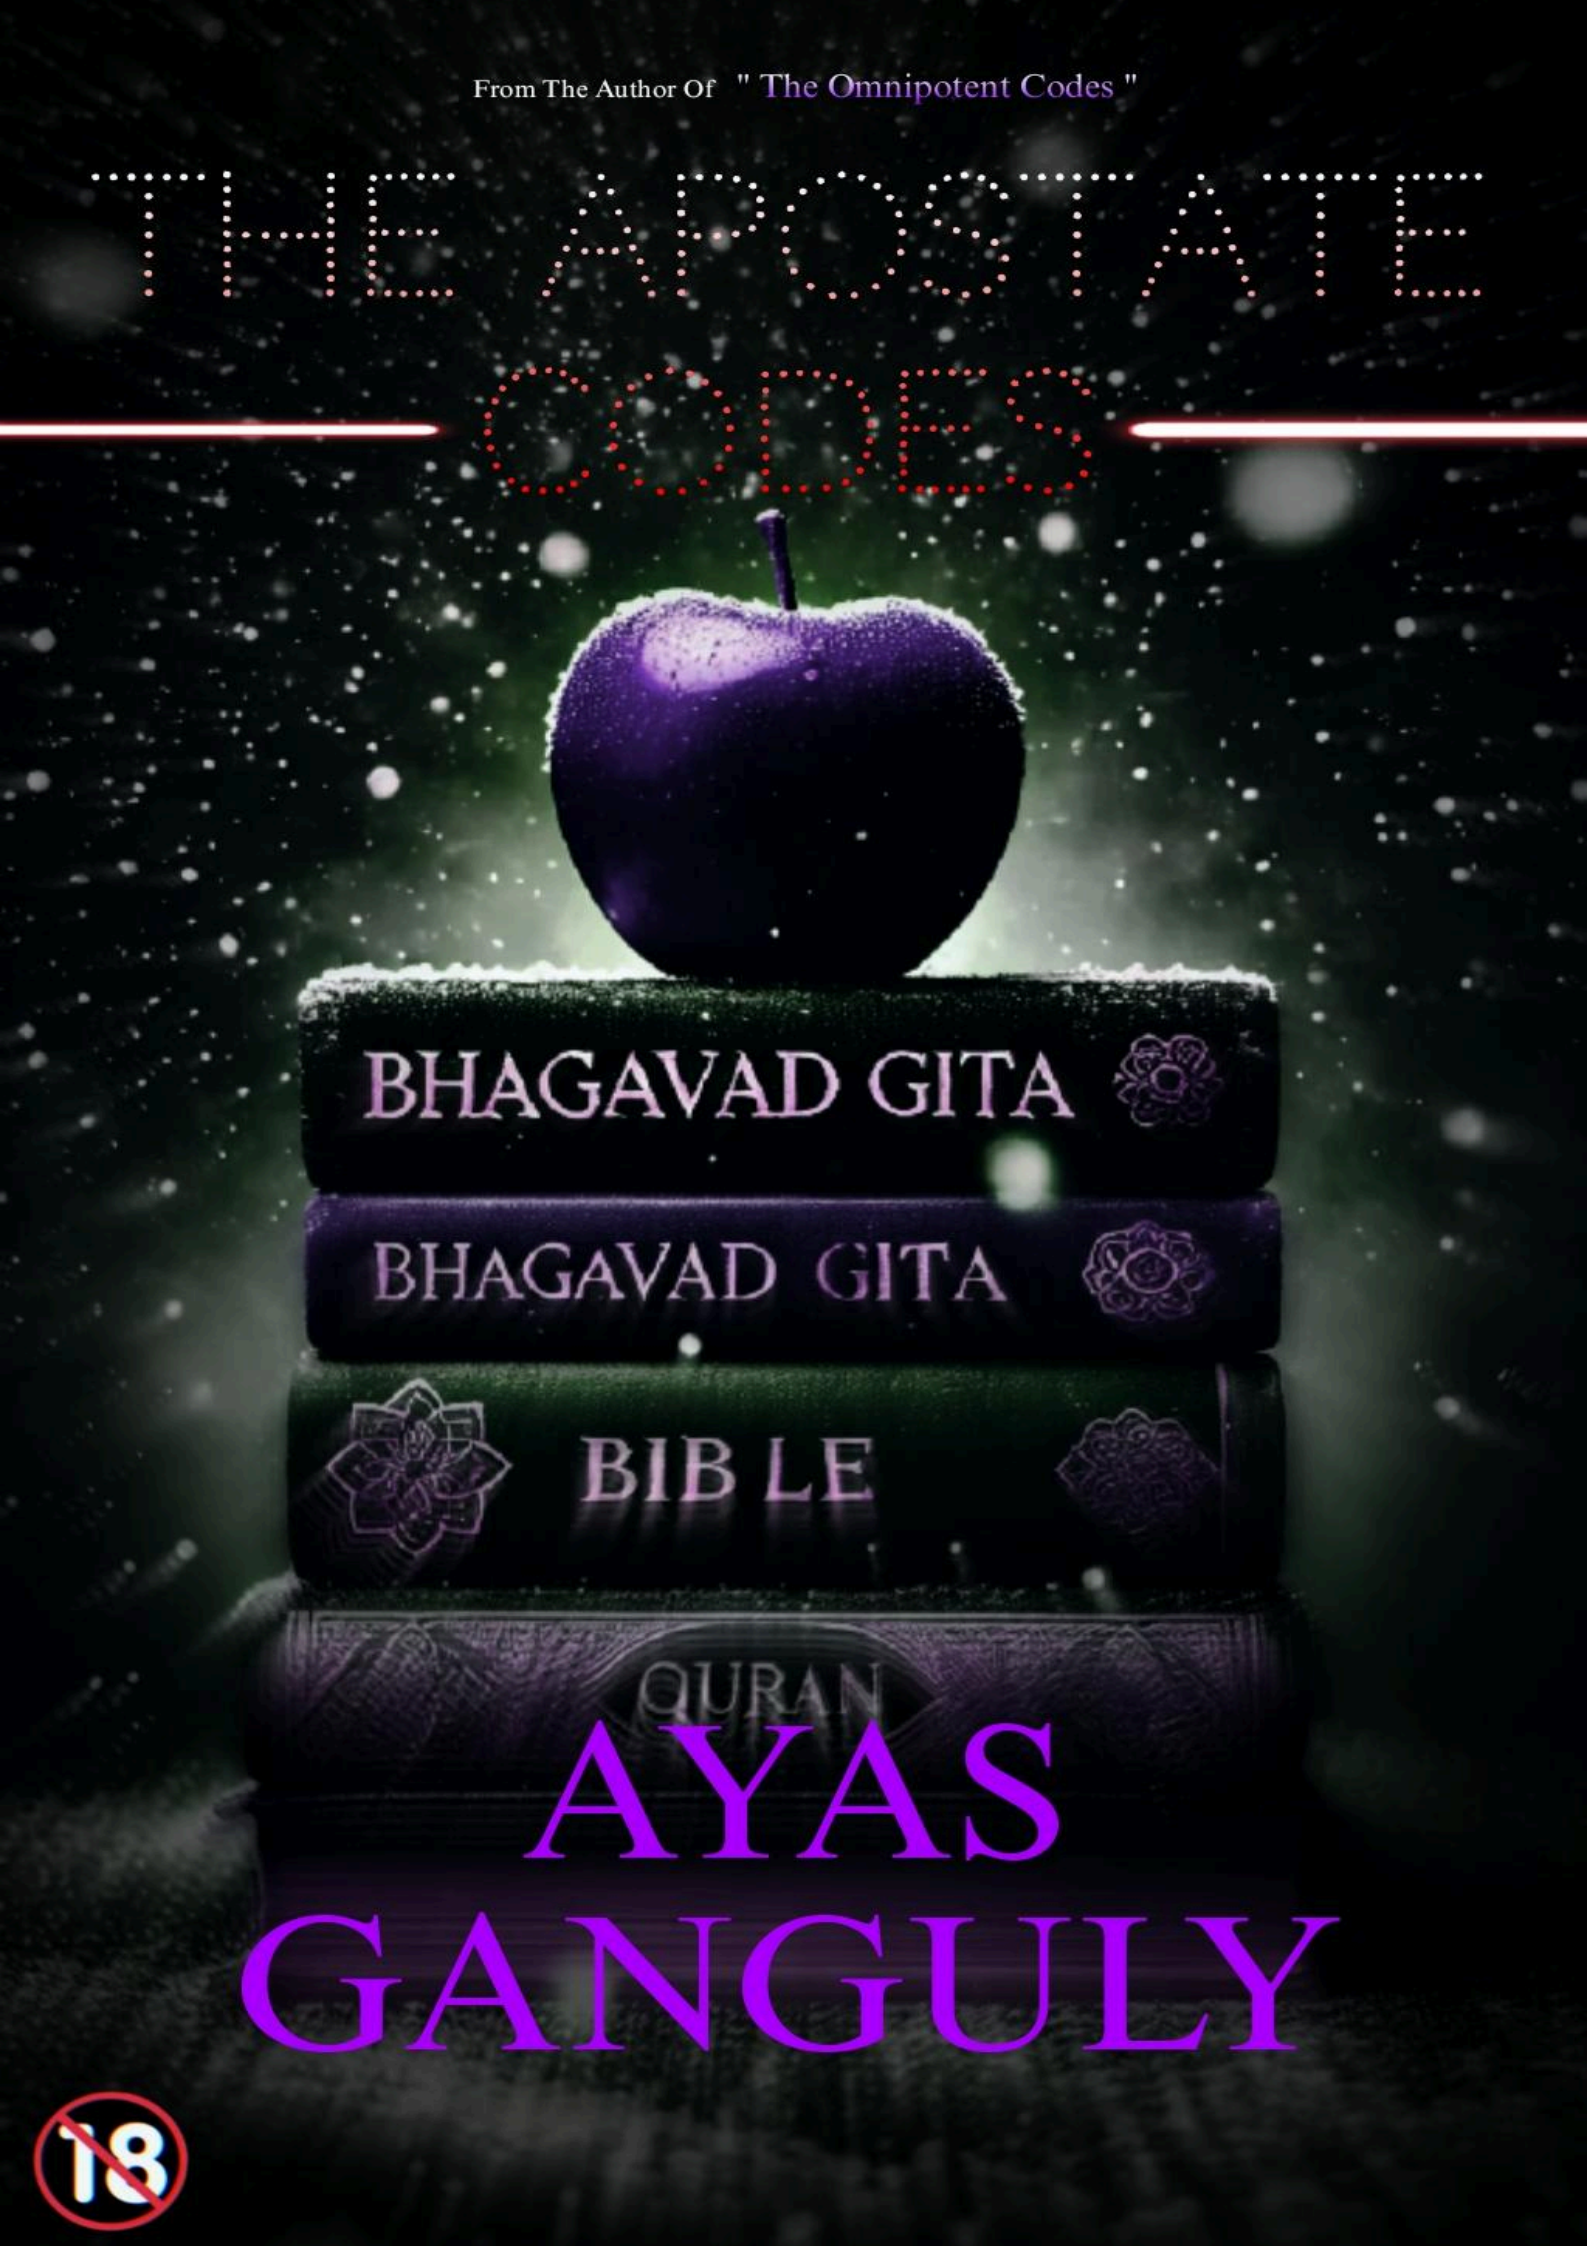
From The Author Of " The Omnipotent Codes "

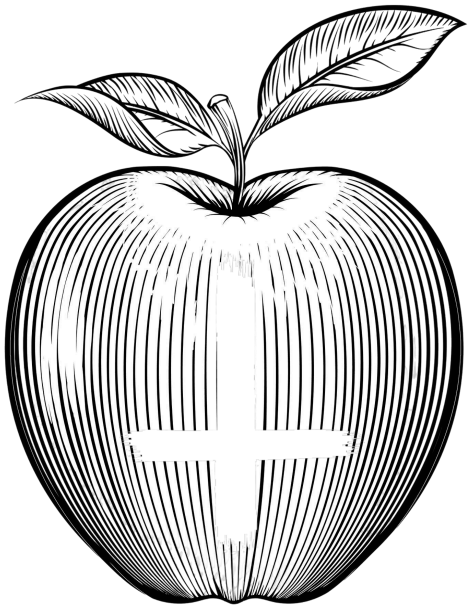
THE APOSTATE CODES



AYAS GANGULY

18

The Apostate Codes



AYAS GANGULY

18

“ Mystical explanations are considered Deep. The truth is that they are not even shallow. ”

— Friedrich Nietzsche

WARNING

This Pocket Book is not for the the devout or easily offended Individual. The following pages contains discussions and criticisms on sensitive issues connected to Mass Hysteria and Dogmatic Mentality. If you are sensitive with Religious matters, Stories or Godly figures of any of the following three religions :-

1. Islam
2. Christianity
3. Hinduism

Then you're recommended to stop reading this pocket book immediately because it is going to offend you very harshly. This Pocket Book is a critical exploration of religious beliefs, topics, verses, institutions and their impact on the society. It is intended to encourage discussion, debate and intellectual inquiry. The views expressed within are those of the author himself and do not seek to offend, defame or target any individual or group based on their religious identity. Readers are encouraged to approach this work with an Open Mind, understanding the criticism of ideas does not equate to hostility toward individuals. If you find discussions of religion challenging or uncomfortable, please proceed with discretion.

18+ | • Religious Blasphemy. • Anti God. • Atheism. • Mass Hysteria and Dogmatism Exposure. • References of mild Slavery, Sexuality and Violence.

A Wise Piece of Advice

“ The Devil holds the Apple ” is a term I created which means True knowledge...especially the deepest and most transformative kind, is always tied to temptation, rebellion and consequence. The understanding of this true Knowledge often comes from questioning, defying and even suffering the truth. Which is a warning that wisdom has a price and those who seek it, must be ready to bear the burden.

— Author

INTRODUCTION

You opened this Book on your own choice, No one Forced you to. Still you'll open it.., I mean you already did..Ain't I'm being correct..?? Of Course I'm..To be honest..I'm a Religious person!! I mean I believe in those Verses and Horoscope stuff too haha!!.. Actually..I, myself can perform a bit of Horoscoping too..!! ...Don't believe me?! Ok...Then Imagine this..., being part of a religious yet flexible (Maybe) family and then suddenly coming across a pocket book titled " The Apostate Codes " randomly over the internet or through that particular 'Dude's' suggestion or maybe through MY OWN request as the Author of the pocket book to read haha..and even after looking at the cover of the pocket book a few times... and (Maybe) having few doubts in the mind like "What's the Bhagavad Gita, Holy Bible and Quran doing on the cover ?..." and then with full curiosity.. opening the first few pages of the book until reaching and analyzing the "Warning" section before coming up with the thought that "Oh.., This might be a Blasphemy Book..!!"...and yet if...the reader is still reading the pocket book while even reading these particular lines I wrote.... Exactly Now...You're Welcome!! Hahaha! Jokes apart.., now let's get straight down to business...

"The first step of freeing yourself is realizing you are in a cage..."

Since the beginning of civilization, religion has ruled human minds. It has dictated what we eat, what we wear, whom we marry, and how we think. It has built empires, Justified wars, enslaved minds, and controlled entire populations. Yet, despite it's promise of salvation, Humanity remains divided, suffering, and lost.

Why? Because religion was never about enlightenment—it was always about power, and most importantly—Control.

The gods did not write sacred texts. Humans did, especially Men. The prophets did not receive divine revelations—they crafted them. The miracles, The punishments, The afterlives—they are not truths but carefully designed Illusions.

This Pocket Book is not here to comfort you. It is not here to reassure you that religion is a personal choice. It is here to strip away all the veil, to expose faith for what it truly is—a masterpiece of deception.

Throughout history, those who questioned religion were burned, exiled or silenced. But today, in an age of science, reason, and information, the gods no longer hold the same power...

NOW WE HAVE THE TOOLS TO BREAK FREE..!!

Although this is the second book in the about to become infamous CODES series, after " The Omnipotent Codes " this book is a lot more different than that in terms of understanding. But don't worry, I got you. Here I'll give you three CODES (with Chapters included) representing a viewpoint for each. Practical, Verses and Mystical Stories. This three viewpoint CODES on Religion and God will urge you to realize that exactly why most of the brilliant minds from the 19th, 20th and 21st Century were Atheists.

“ What is the one, and true Religion..? ”

— Mr. Reed (Heretic 2024)

(Played by Hugh Grant)

(I recommend you to watch the Movie to find out the answer.)

CONTENTS

CODE 1 : THE PRACTICAL ISSUES

Chapters :-

1. The Oldest Business Model — Pg no. 17
2. The Power of Guilt — Pg no. 19
3. The False Promises of Afterlife — Pg no. 21
4. Social Media Gurus — Pg no. 23
5. The Business of Miracles — Pg no. 25
6. Fear of Hell — Pg no. 27
7. Religion and Oppression — Pg no. 29
8. The Hypocrisy of Religious Leaders — Pg no. 32
9. The Science-Religion conflict — Pg no. 34
10. A World without Religion — Pg no. 36

CODE 2 : THE VERSE ISSUES

Chapters :-

1. The Business of GOD — Pg no. 39
2. The Tyranny of Faith — Pg no. 42
3. GOD's Inconsistent Rules — Pg no. 45
4. The Silence of GOD — Pg no. 48
5. Religion and Bloodshed — Pg no. 51
6. The Fraud of Holy Texts — Pg no. 54
7. Science and God — Pg no. 57
8. The Moral Failure of God — Pg no. 60
9. Faith Keeps you Powerless — Pg no. 63
10. The Freedom of Atheism — Pg no. 66

CODE 3 : THE MYSTICAL STORIES ISSUES

Chapters :-

1. The Master who demands Blood — Pg no. 70
2. The Destroyer of Cities — Pg no. 72
3. The God who encourages War — Pg no. 74
4. The God who Values power over ‘Goodness’ — Pg no. 76
5. The God who Demands Sacrifice but gives Nothing — Pg no. 78

“ যে জিনিস মানুষে—মানুষে বিভেদ সৃষ্টি করে...তাকে আমি মানি না..। Religion এটা করে... ”

(The thing which causes a human to get departed from another human..I don't follow such things. Religion does that...)

— Manomohan Mitra

(Played by Utpal Dutt in Agantuk
‘The Stranger’ by Satyajit Ray)

(I suggest you to watch “ Agantuk ” by Satyajit Ray to understand the character's perspective, so that you can understand why he said so..)

Apostate

noun

/əˈpɒsteɪt/

/əˈpɑːsteɪt/ (formal)

a person who has rejected their religious or political beliefs

CODE 1

The Practical Issues

Introduction

Religion has shaped human civilization for centuries, binding people in faith, fear, and submission. But what if the divine is nothing more than a powerful illusion—an ancient construct designed to control? What if gods are not celestial beings but ideas used to manipulate, suppress, and exploit?

In the following CODE chapters, from social media gurus to historical religious tyrants, we will unveil how gods are not protectors but weapons in the hands of those who seek power.

Chapter 1: The Oldest Business Model—The Birth of Gods

"Fear is the seed. Religion is the harvest."

From the earliest civilizations, humanity has lived in terror of the unknown. Thunderstorms, diseases, death—primitive minds sought explanations, and the concept of gods was born. The powerful few recognized an opportunity: control the narrative, and you control the people. Priests, shamans, and prophets became the first CEOs of the greatest business empire—Religion Inc.

Ancient Egypt, Mesopotamia, and Rome all followed the same pattern: rulers declared themselves divine or chosen by gods, ensuring unquestioned obedience. Today, the same trick continues, only with a modern twist—pastors on mega-stages, televangelists scamming millions, and internet gurus selling "divine wisdom" in exchange for your wallet.

Example

Joel Osteen, a Christian preacher, lives in a $10 million mansion while preaching humility and faith. Fraudulent Hindu babas in India amass billions while their devotees starve. Islamic clerics issue fatwas while engaging in hidden luxuries. The business of God is thriving.

“ मैने सिर्फ इंसान बनाया..., और इंसान ने ये जात, पात, धर्म, मजहब का धंदा शुरू किया... ”

(I only made humans ... and humans started this business of caste, religion, etc.)

— Krishna Vasudev Yadav
(Played by Akshay Kumar in OMG : Oh My God!, 2012)

(I suggest you to watch “ OMG - Oh My God! ” to understand the character's perspective, so that you can understand why he said so..)

Chapter 2: The Power of Guilt – How Religion Weaponizes Your Morality

"Born in sin. Redeemed by submission."

Religions thrive on guilt. The concept of "original sin" in Christianity, "karma" in Hinduism, and "haram" in Islam all operate under the same formula: convince people they are flawed and offer them salvation—at a cost. By creating a never-ending cycle of guilt and redemption, religious institutions ensure lifelong obedience.

Children are taught from birth that they are sinners, unworthy, or subject to divine punishment. This self-loathing makes them easy to manipulate. The Catholic Church made billions selling "indulgences" (tickets to heaven). Hindu caste systems ensured entire populations remained subjugated. Islamic doctrines imposed rigid laws that turned natural human desires into punishable offenses.

Example

The Vatican's immense wealth stands in stark contrast to starving Christian communities worldwide. Hindu temples in India collect gold offerings while Dalits (low caste) suffer discrimination. Islamic leaders enforce Sharia but are rarely subject to the same restrictions. The game is rigged.

“ All living things believe in someone superior to them, and cannot live unless they blindly follow them. Then, the objects of their faith try to escape this crushing pressure by seeking another being that is more superior to them to believe in. And they, in turn, seek a stronger being still. That is how all kings are born. That is how... all gods are born.”

— Sōsuke Aizen (Bleach by Tite Kubo)

Chapter 3: The False Promises of Afterlife – Selling Heaven, Delivering Nothing

"Die poor. Live rich in paradise."

Every major religion promises a glorious afterlife in exchange for suffering on Earth. Christianity promises heaven, Islam offers Jannah, Hinduism sells moksha. The catch? You can never verify the reward. This is the ultimate scam—an IOU that can never be cashed.

The wealthy religious elite never seem eager to die and claim their paradise. They hoard riches, build empires, and live lavishly, while preaching humility and sacrifice to their followers. If the afterlife is so great, why do they cling to earthly pleasures?

Example

Saudi Arabian religious elites live in unimaginable wealth while the poor are told to be content in this life and seek rewards in the next. Hindu godmen in India hoard millions in gold and cash while their followers are told material wealth is an illusion. Christian televangelists promise miracles for donations, but the only real miracle is how much money they make.

"A celibate clergy is an especially good idea, because it tends to suppress any hereditary propensity toward fanaticism."

— Christopher Hitchens

Chapter 4: Social Media Gurus– The New Age Prophets of Deception

"A smartphone. A camera. A script. Instant godhood."

In the digital age, con artists no longer need temples. They need TikTok. Instagram. YouTube. A charismatic voice, fake humility, and a few cherry-picked religious verses are enough to create a following. People are desperate for guidance, and social media gurus exploit this need ruthlessly.

From Sadhguru in India to self-proclaimed Christian prophets in the West, the new religious businessmen sell vague wisdom, pretending to offer enlightenment while running tax-free empires. Their words are carefully scripted, their personas calculated. They don't seek to enlighten you. They seek to enslave you—digitally and financially.

Example

Sadhguru: Promotes "spiritual wisdom" while his organization amasses billions.

Christian televangelists: Sell "holy water" and "blessings" while living in mansions.

Islamic preachers on YouTube: Spread fear-based narratives, urging donations for religious causes that never see transparency.

The more you believe, the richer they become.

“ जहां धर्म है ना.., वहां सत्य केलिए जगह नहीं है..। और जहां सत्य है, truth है, वहां धर्म की जरूरत ही नहीं है...। ”

(Where there is religion.., there is no space for truth .. and where there is truth, there is no need for religion over there...)

— Kanji Lalji Mehta

(Played by Paresh Rawal in OMG: Oh My God!, 2012)

Chapter 5: The Business of Miracles – How Religion Exploits Desperation

"Hope sells. Desperation pays."

Miracles are the currency of faith. Every major religion claims supernatural events—water turning to wine, divine healings, reincarnations. The truth? These miracles are nothing more than marketing gimmicks to keep the masses believing.

The sick, the poor, the desperate—they all become easy prey. People donate their last savings hoping for divine intervention, while religious leaders collect wealth and build tax-free empires.

Faith healers claim to cure cancer with prayers, but hospitals remain filled. Hindu godmen promise prosperity rituals, yet poverty in India is rampant. Islamic clerics preach the power of dua, yet suffering continues.

Example

Benny Hinn, a Christian faith healer, made millions claiming to cure illnesses with the touch of his hand. Ex-followers later exposed his fraud.

Sai Baba of India performed "miracles" like producing ash from thin air, later debunked as sleight of hand.

Islamic mystics promise to remove "evil spirits" for cash, exploiting superstitions for profit.

Religion does not perform miracles—it manufactures illusions.

“ मैं कृष्ण हूं इसीलिए चमत्कार करता हूं..।
चमत्कार करता हूं इसीलिए कृष्ण नहीं हूं...। ”

(I am Krishna that's why I do magic .. not because I do magic I am Krishna...)

— Krishna Vasudev Yadav
(Played by Akshay Kumar in OMG: Oh My God!, 2012)

Chapter 6: Fear of Hell — The Oldest Psychological Torture

"Obey, or suffer forever."

The greatest weapon of religion is fear. The Christian Hell. The Islamic Jahannam. The Hindu Naraka. All serve one purpose: psychological control.

A child raised in fear of eternal torment will never question authority. A society conditioned to believe in divine punishment will always obey. Fear paralyzes thought, and religion thrives on this paralysis.

Example

Catholic priests in medieval Europe threatened illiterate peasants with eternal damnation to keep them obedient.

Hindu scriptures describe horrifying punishments for those who question dharma, discouraging rebellion.

Wahhabi Islamic clerics instill terror of hellfire to enforce strict religious codes.

If religion truly led to enlightenment, why does it rely on fear rather than reason?

“ Religion is based, I think, primarily and mainly upon fear. It is partly the terror of the unknown and partly, as I have said, the wish to feel that you have a kind of elder brother who will stand by you in all your troubles and disputes. Fear is the basis of the whole thing—fear of the mysterious, fear of defeat, fear of death. ”

— Bertrand Russell

Chapter 7: Religion and Oppression – How Faith Justifies Injustice

"Divine will is the greatest excuse for human cruelty."

Religious texts have been used for centuries to justify slavery, caste systems, misogyny, and genocide. The moment a belief system claims "divine approval," any atrocity becomes acceptable.

Christianity was used to justify colonialism and slavery.

Islam was spread through conquests and forced conversions.

Hinduism's caste system ensured social hierarchy and oppression for millennia.

Even today, women, even LGBTQ+ individuals, and minorities suffer under religious laws designed to maintain control rather than promote equality.

Example

Saudi Arabia’s strict Sharia laws impose brutal punishments, justified as "God’s will.”

The caste system in India still affects millions, despite being legally abolished.

The Vatican covered up sexual abuse scandals for decades while preaching morality.

Morality does not come from religion—it comes from human empathy.

“すべての悪の根源は、人間の誇り、頑固さ、自己中心性、階級意識、人種的偏見、そして国家的なエゴであると言われている。しかし、本来エゴを捨てることを教えるべき宗教自体が、宗派や宗教組織のエゴイズムを持っている。だからこそ、私は宗教家を好まないのだ。”

(It is said that the root of all evil is human pride, obstinacy, human ego, class ego, racial ego, and national ego. Yet religion which is supposed, above all, to teach the casting away of ego, itself has the egoism of sects and religious institutions. And this is what makes me dislike religionists.)

— Shōchō Hagami

Chapter 8: The Hypocrisy of Religious Leaders – Preaching Poverty, Living in Luxury

"Humble in words. Extravagant in lifestyle."

If religion were truly about humility, why do its leaders live like kings?

Christian televangelists own private jets. Hindu gurus build billion-dollar empires. Islamic scholars enjoy luxurious lifestyles while preaching simplicity. The hypocrisy is glaring, yet the masses remain blind.

Example

Kenneth Copeland, a Christian preacher, owns multiple jets but tells followers to "trust God for financial blessings."

Indian godman Ram Rahim Singh lived in a palace while his followers were impoverished.

Wealthy Gulf state clerics live extravagantly while their people struggle under religiously enforced economic restrictions.

They do not practice what they preach because they never believed it to begin with.

“ Все думают о том, чтобы изменить человечество, но никто не думает о том, чтобы изменить себя. ”

(Everyone thinks of changing humanity, but no one thinks of changing himself.)

— Leo Tolstoy

Chapter 9: The Science-Religion Conflict – Why Faith Fears Knowledge

"The more you know, the less you believe."

Every major scientific advancement has been resisted by religion. The Earth was once "flat" because the Church said so. Evolution was "blasphemy" because it contradicted scripture. Even today, religious fundamentalists attack science whenever it challenges dogma.

Why? Because knowledge threatens faith. An educated mind is harder to control.

Example

Galileo was persecuted by the Church for supporting heliocentrism.

Charles Darwin's theory of evolution is still rejected by religious extremists.

Islamic scholars once led scientific advancements but later suppressed knowledge to maintain religious control.

The choice is clear: science seeks truth. Religion seeks obedience.

“الحقيقة لا تضاد الحقيقة بل توافقها وتشهد لها.”

(Truth does not contradict truth but rather aligns with it and testifies to it)

— Ibn Rushd

Chapter 10: A World Without Religion — What True Freedom Looks Like

"No gods. No masters. Only reason."

Imagine a world where morality is based on ethics, not scripture. Where progress is guided by reason, not prophecy. Where human rights are valued over religious dogma.

This world is not a fantasy—it is a possibility. Atheism does not mean nihilism. It means freedom from control, the ability to think independently, and the rejection of blind faith in favor of critical thought.

Societies with lower religiosity often have higher education levels, lower crime rates, and better human rights. The evidence is undeniable: humanity does better when it abandons superstition.

The Final Message

Question everything, reject fear, and embrace the power of reason. Religion is a prison. Atheism is the key.

“ L'existence d'un monde sans Dieu me paraît moins absurde que la présence d'un Dieu, existant dans toute sa perfection, créant l'homme imparfait afin de le faire courir le risque de l'enfer. ”

(The existence of a world without God seems to me less absurd than the presence of a God, existing in all of his perfection, creating imperfect man in order to make him run the risk of Hell.)

— Armand Salacrou

CODE 2

The Verse Issues

Introduction

Since the dawn of civilization, mankind has shackled itself with the illusion of divine authority. He has knelt before unseen forces, trembled at the whims of silent gods, and slaughtered his own in the name of salvation. A book was placed in his hands—one that declared itself infallible, unquestionable, and eternal. Yet within its pages lay contradictions so blatant, cruelty so casual, and hypocrisy so profound that only blind obedience could silence the rational mind.

Chapter 1: The Business of GOD

"My house will be called a house of prayer, but you are making it a den of robbers."

— Matthew (21:13)

Religion is the most successful business model in human history. Unlike traditional businesses, it requires no investment—only belief. It sells you invisible products: salvation, paradise, karma. It charges you in ways you cannot refuse: guilt, fear, obedience. And worst of all, it convinces you that suffering is part of the deal.

Historical Example

Selling Heaven and Hell

The Catholic Church mastered the art of monetizing fear. In the Middle Ages, it introduced indulgences, where sinners could pay money to buy their way out of Hell. The Vatican built its empire on this scheme, creating fortunes that still exist today. Islam, too, established a zakat tax—a financial obligation where believers must donate a portion of their income to religious institutions. Hinduism? The caste system was a divine-approved business model, ensuring the lower classes served the Brahmins, who reaped all the wealth while preaching detachment from material desires.

Scriptural Breakdown

Religion and Money

Bible: "You cannot serve both God and money." (Matthew 6:24) – Yet, the Church became the wealthiest institution on Earth.

Quran: "And establish prayer and give zakat, and whatever good you put forward for yourselves—you will find it with Allah." (Quran 2:110) – Mandatory payments in the name of God.

Gita: "Abandon all varieties of dharma and just surrender unto Me." (Bhagavad Gita 18:66) – Give up personal agency, follow blindly.

Modern-Day Manipulation

Godmen, Gurus, and Megachurches

Today, preachers like Joel Osteen, Zakir Naik, and Jaggi Vasudev (Sadhguru) live in multi-million-dollar mansions while their followers donate everything they have. Televangelists, Islamic clerics, and Hindu babas promise miracles while building personal empires.

Religion was never about enlightenment. It was about business—one that convinces you to pay for something you will never receive.

Chapter 2: The Tyranny of Faith

"They will throw them into the blazing furnace, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth."

— Matthew (13:50)

Control is most effective when invisible. Religion does not use chains or prisons—it uses fear. Fear of divine wrath. Fear of eternal suffering. Fear of questioning.

Historical Example

The Invention of Hell

Christianity's Hell was a political weapon. The concept of eternal torment did not exist in early Judaism. It was added later to keep followers in line. Islam's Jahannam takes it further, detailing seven layers of burning pits for those who disobey Allah. Hinduism's Naraka describes 21 levels of suffering, where sinners are skinned alive or boiled in oil.

Scriptural Breakdown

The Fear Mechanism

Bible: “But the cowardly, the unbelieving… they will be consigned to the fiery lake of burning sulfur.” (Revelation 21:8)

Quran: “Indeed, those who disbelieve in Our verses—We will drive them into a Fire.” (Quran 4:56)

Gita: “Those who worship other gods will be reborn in darkness.” (Bhagavad Gita 9:25)

Modern-Day Manipulation

The Fear Industry

Islamic preachers warn of torture in the grave. Catholic priests tell children that masturbation leads to Hell. Hindu gurus promise horrific reincarnations for those who break traditions.

Religion thrives on fear because a fearful mind obeys without question.

No truth requires fear to survive. The fact that religion needs Hell proves that it is not based on reason—but control.

Chapter 3: GOD's Inconsistent Rules

"Do not wear clothing woven of two kinds of material."

— Leviticus (19:19)

Religious laws contradict themselves. They are selective, illogical, and ever-changing. If God's rules were perfect, why do they need revisions?

Historical Example

Changing God's Laws

The Bible once allowed slavery. The Quran once allowed beating wives. The Hindu scriptures once justified sati (widow burning). These "divine laws" were later abolished—not by God, but by humans.

Scriptural Breakdown

Contradictions in Religious Law

Bible: “Slaves, obey your earthly masters.” (Ephesians 6:5) – Yet today, slavery is condemned.

Quran: “Men are in charge of women... and (if they are disobedient) strike them.” (Quran 4:34) – Yet Muslims argue Islam respects women.

Gita: “One should not eat meat.” (Bhagavad Gita 17:8) – Yet Hindu kings slaughtered animals in sacrifices.

Modern-Day Manipulation

Cherry-Picking Morality

Religious leaders ignore inconvenient laws. They even ban homosexuality but protect pedophile priests. They claim Islam means peace but call for the execution of apostates. They claim Hinduism respects women but promote caste-based oppression.

Morality is not religious. We abandoned divine laws to build a just society—not the other way around.

Chapter 4: The Silence of GOD

> "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"
>
> — Matthew (27:46)

When disaster strikes, people pray. Yet when earthquakes swallow cities, when wars massacre the innocent, when children starve—God remains silent. Why? Because he was never there.

Historical Example

The Holocaust & Religious Excuses

During World War II, six million Jews were slaughtered. Where was Yahweh? Religious leaders said it was a test of faith. In Islam, when tsunamis or plagues wipe out thousands, clerics claim it is Allah's punishment. Hindu priests justify suffering with karma, blaming victims for sins from past lives. Religion never takes responsibility—God is always blameless, no matter how many suffer.

Scriptural Breakdown

The Silence of God

Bible: “If you ask anything in my name, I will do it.” (John 14:14) – A promise that is consistently broken.

Quran: “Call upon Me; I will respond to you.” (Quran 40:60) – Yet billions of prayers remain unanswered.

Gita: “He who worships Me shall never perish.” (Bhagavad Gita 9:31) – Yet millions of Hindus die in suffering every year.

Modern-Day Manipulation

The Prayer Industry

Televangelists sell miracle prayers for cash. Islamic imams sell amulets to ward off evil. Hindu babas claim yajnas (rituals) can fix your life. If God actually answered prayers, why do religious leaders charge money for divine intervention?

If a doctor failed to cure patients, we would call them a fraud. If a teacher failed to educate, we would fire them. Yet when God fails to protect humanity, we still worship him.

Chapter 5: Religion and Bloodshed

"Do not suppose that I have come to bring peace to the earth. I did not come to bring peace, but a sword."

— Matthew (10:34)

Religion claims to be about love—but history is drenched in its blood. Every major faith has slaughtered, oppressed, and enslaved in God's name.

Historical Example

Jihad, Crusades, and Caste Wars

Islamic conquest, from the Battle of Badr (624 AD) to ISIS, has always spread through war. Christianity led the Crusades, slaughtering Muslims and Jews alike. Hindu kings waged caste-based genocides, ensuring the lower classes remained enslaved for eternity. If God truly wanted peace, why did his followers kill millions?

Scriptural Breakdown

Religion and Violence

Bible: “Kill them all—men, women, children, and infants.” (1 Samuel 15:3)

Quran: “Fight those who do not believe in Allah.” (Quran 9:29)

Gita: “Engage in battle and kill your enemies.” (Bhagavad Gita 2:33-37)

Modern-Day Manipulation

Hate Preached from the Pulpit

Christian priests support conversion therapy and even anti-LGBT laws. Muslim clerics call for Sharia punishments like stonings. Hindu nationalists burn Muslim homes in riots. This is not peace—this is holy war.

If religion truly brought love, its history wouldn’t be a massacre. Faith has fueled more death than any dictator or ideology in history.

Chapter 6: The Fraud of Holy Texts

“Do not add to what I command you and do not subtract from it.”

— Deuteronomy (4:2)

If a book was truly divine, it would be flawless. Yet every holy scripture is filled with contradictions, absurdity, and scientific errors.

Historical Example

Lost Gospels, Quran Revisions, and Hindu Edits

The Bible was compiled over centuries—hundreds of gospels were removed for being "inconvenient." The Quran has different versions—despite claims that it was "never changed." Hindu scriptures were altered over time, removing sections that promoted human sacrifice.

Scriptural Breakdown

Contradictions and Lies

Bible: “No one has seen God” (John 1:18) vs. “Moses saw the Lord” (Exodus 33:11)

Quran: “There is no compulsion in religion” (Quran 2:256) vs. “Kill those who turn away from Islam” (Quran 4:89)

Gita: “God is beyond form” (Bhagavad Gita 12:3) vs. “Krishna has a divine form” (Bhagavad Gita 4:6)

Modern-Day Manipulation

The "No Contradiction" Lie

Religious leaders gaslight followers by saying contradictions don’t exist. They tell you that “you don’t understand it properly”—but the flaws are clear.

If these books were divine, why do they contradict themselves, change over time, and contain human biases? Because they were never divine to begin with.

Chapter 7: Science and God

“ The fool says in his heart, ‘There is no God.’ ”

— Psalm (14:1)

Religion claimed the Earth was flat. Science proved it was round. Religion said disease was caused by demons. Science discovered bacteria. Religion swore the sun revolved around the Earth. Science crushed every religious lie.

Historical Example

Galileo vs. The Church

Galileo was imprisoned for saying the Earth orbited the Sun—because it contradicted the Bible. Islamic scholars once led mathematics—until clerics crushed free thought. Hinduism claimed ancient sages invented airplanes and nuclear bombs—yet India imports its technology from the West.

Scriptural Breakdown

Science vs. Religion

Bible: “The Earth is set on foundations; it cannot be moved.” (Psalm 104:5) – Proven false.

Quran: “The sun sets in a muddy spring.” (Quran 18:86) – Scientifically absurd.

Gita: “The universe was created from the cosmic man’s body.” – A mythological claim.

Modern-Day Manipulation

The “Religion Invented Science” Lie

Religious leaders now claim that science confirms their beliefs. But if religion had the truth, why did it oppose every major scientific discovery?

Religion takes credit for science—but in reality, science has exposed its lies.

Chapter 8: The Moral Failure of God

"Now kill all the boys. And kill every woman who has slept with a man."

— Numbers 31:17 (Bible)

A truly perfect God would be the ultimate moral guide. Instead, the God of religious texts is petty, violent, and sadistic. He orders genocides, endorses slavery, and punishes innocent people for the crimes of others.

Historical Example/Scriptural Breakdown

Slavery and Religious Endorsement

For centuries, Christian slave traders quoted the Bible to justify slavery:

"Slaves, obey your earthly masters." (Ephesians 6:5)

The Quran permits owning slaves, stating:

“Marry from those whom your right hands possess.” (Quran 4:3)

Hinduism created the caste system, where lower-caste people were treated as subhuman:

“If a Shudra dares to recite the Vedas, hot oil shall be poured in his ears.” (Manusmriti 4.99)

Religious morality is not moral at all—it is built on violence, oppression, and blind obedience.

Modern-Day Manipulation

Defending the Indefensible

When religious leaders are confronted with these atrocities, they claim:

“It was a different time!”

“You’re misunderstanding the text!”

“God works in mysterious ways.”

But moral perfection doesn’t change with time. If religion justifies slavery, murder, and oppression in one era, it cannot claim to be a moral authority in any era.

Religion demands morality from you—while its own God is morally bankrupt.

Chapter 9: Faith Keeps you Powerless

"Do not worry about your life, what you will eat or drink."

— Matthew (6:25)

Religion teaches submission. It tells you to suffer in this life for rewards in the next. It convinces you that your pain, your struggles, and your suffering are part of God's plan. This keeps you weak, obedient, and easily controlled.

Historical Example

The Church vs. The People

For centuries, the Catholic Church kept people illiterate so they couldn't question doctrine. Islamic empires banned philosophy to prevent critical thought. Hindu priests used the caste system to ensure lower classes never challenged authority.

Scriptural Breakdown

Faith Promotes Weakness

Bible: “Blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the Earth.” (Matthew 5:5) – A tool to pacify the oppressed.

Quran: “Obey Allah and the Messenger.” (Quran 4:59) – Blind obedience without question.

Gita: “Surrender yourself fully unto me.” (Bhagavad Gita 18:66) – No independence, only submission.

Modern-Day Manipulation

The Business of Fear

Why do religions focus on death? Because fear of the unknown is the ultimate control mechanism. Christianity threatens hellfire. Islam warns of punishment in the grave. Hinduism keeps followers trapped in the cycle of reincarnation and karma. The afterlife is the ultimate scam—a fantasy designed to make you compliant in this life.

Religion does not empower you—it enslaves you.

Chapter 10: The Freedom of Atheism

“ I am the master of my fate, I am the captain of my soul. ”

— William Ernest Henley

Atheism is not just the rejection of God—it is the rejection of control. It is the acceptance that you are the architect of your own destiny. No invisible force is guiding your life—you are free to shape it yourself.

Historical Example

The Rise of Free Thinkers

Atheism has always been the foundation of progress.

Karl Marx rejected religion, calling it “the opium of the masses.”

Friedrich Nietzsche declared, “God is dead.”

Carl Sagan, Stephen Hawking, and Richard Dawkins proved that science can explain the universe without God.

The Power of Self-Ownership

When you let go of religion, you stop:

Fearing divine punishment for thinking freely.

Feeling guilty for living life on your own terms.

Waiting for divine intervention and start taking control of your own destiny.

Religion is a prison. Atheism is the key to escape.

CODE 3

The Mystical Stories Issues

Introduction

Since the birth of civilization, men have whispered myths of gods—tales carved into stone, passed down in sacred texts, and worshiped as eternal truths. They speak of divine justice, of cosmic order, of morality dictated by omnipotent beings beyond human comprehension. And yet, when the veil is lifted, what do we find?

Gods who lie. Gods who cheat. Gods who rage with jealousy, murder out of vengeance, rape with impunity, and demand worship with the insecurity of a tyrant. These are not deities of wisdom but reflections of the very worst in human nature—powerful yet petty, eternal yet flawed, ruling not through love but through fear.

Chapter 1: The Master who Demands Blood

The God Who Tests Loyalty with Murder

“ Take your son, your only son Isaac, whom you love, and go to the land of Moriah, and offer him there as a burnt offering. ”

— Genesis (22:2)

What kind of leader demands a man to slaughter his own child to prove devotion? In the story of Abraham and Isaac, the test was not faith—it was submission to cruelty. This was not a lesson in love, but in fear. The god of the Old Testament rewards obedience over morality, conditioning his followers to sacrifice reason for blind servitude.

Would a benevolent deity need such a gruesome display? Or is this the psychology of a tyrant who enjoys watching men break?

The Divine Command to Kill an Innocent Child

“ So we decreed among the Children of Israel that whoever kills a soul unless for a soul or for corruption in the land, it is as if he had slain mankind entirely. ”

— Quran (5:32)

A verse often quoted for peace—but its context tells another story. This decree came after Cain killed Abel, yet strangely, God never punished Cain. Instead, he placed a mark on him to protect him from harm (Genesis 4:15). If a mortal kills, it is sin. If a god allows murder with no consequence, it is "divine will."

Why does a god who preaches justice allow murderers to walk free under his protection?

Chapter 2: The Destroyer of Cities

The Massacre of Sodom and Gomorrah

“ Then the Lord rained on Sodom and Gomorrah sulfur and fire from the Lord out of heaven. ”

— Genesis (19:24)

Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed for sin, but why does this god always resolve problems through mass murder? If omnipotent, why not transform hearts instead of turning them to ash? Why does "justice" always come too late, after suffering is inevitable?

A god who can do all things—but always chooses bloodshed over forgiveness—acts not as a savior, but as an executioner.

The God Who Destroys Even the Innocent

In the destruction of Dwaraka (Mahabharata), Krishna lets his own city fall into chaos and bloodshed, allowing curses, betrayal, and slaughter to wipe out his people.

Why does an "all-loving" god let his own kingdom perish? Is this divine wisdom—or a deity who watches destruction unfold for entertainment?

Chapter 3: The God who Encourages War

The Divine Justification for Genocide

“ Now go and strike Amalek and devote to destruction all that they have. Do not spare them, but kill both man and woman, child and infant, ox and sheep, camel and donkey.”

— Samuel (15:3-1)

Why does God command entire civilizations to be erased? What threat does a child pose to an all-powerful being? If he is a god of mercy, why are his methods the same as a warlord’s?

The Bhagavad Gita's Call to Kill Without Guilt

" Kill them, for they are already dead."

— Bhagavad Gita (11:32-34)

Krishna tells Arjuna to slaughter his own kin without remorse, because destiny has already decided their fate. But is this spiritual wisdom—or a devious justification for bloodshed? If life is so sacred, why does a god encourage violence without accountability?

Chapter 4: The God who Values Power over "Goodness"

Pharaoh's Heart Was Hardened—By Whom?

" But I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and though I multiply my signs and wonders in Egypt, he will not listen to you. "

— Exodus (7:3-4)

Why would God harden Pharaoh's heart, ensuring he refuses Moses? This was not free will—this was a god rigging the game to justify his plagues. He created suffering just to display his own power.

The Deception of Indra

In the Mahabharata, Indra steals Karna's divine armor through trickery, disguising himself as a beggar. Why must gods use deception and manipulation instead of true wisdom? A real deity uplifts the worthy, not robs them of their strength.

Chapter 5: The God who Demands Sacrifice but Gives Nothing

The Jephthah Tragedy: A Daughter Burned Alive for a Promise

“ Whatever comes out of my house to meet me when I return, I will offer it as a burnt offering. ”

— Judges (11:30-39)

Jephthah swore to sacrifice the first thing he saw if victorious. His own daughter greeted him—and God allowed her to be burned alive as an offering. A just god would intervene—yet he remained silent, allowing loyalty to turn into tragedy.

The Quranic Law of Apostasy: Kill Those Who Leave

“ But if they turn away, then seize them and kill them wherever you find them.”

— Quran (4:89)

A god who commands the execution of those who walk away is not a god of love, but of tyranny. If the truth is so powerful, why must it be enforced with death?

CONCLUSION

The Beginning of Truth

The Cracks in the Divine Veil

They say faith is the foundation of all things. That without it, the world collapses into chaos. But what if faith is not a foundation at all? What if it is a mask—one that hides the cracks beneath it, concealing the uncomfortable truth?

For centuries, gods have ruled over men, not with proof, not with reason, but with the promise of reward and the terror of punishment. They demanded obedience, not understanding. Worship, not wisdom. And when questioned, their only answer was silence.

Yet history speaks where gods do not. The same hands that wrote the holy laws were the hands that spilled blood in their name. The same lips that preached love also cursed unbelievers. The same voices that promised paradise also called for the destruction of those who dared to think differently.

If justice is blind, why do the gods favor the powerful? If mercy is boundless, why is their wrath eternal? If truth is absolute, why must it be defended with swords and threats?

Perhaps the cracks have always been there. Perhaps we simply refused to see them.

The Silence of the Divine

They say that when you pray, someone listens. That when you suffer, someone watches. That when you fall, someone will lift you up.

Yet how many prayers go unanswered? How many cries for justice are met with nothing but silence? How many promises of salvation dissolve into dust when the time comes?

And yet, the world moves forward. Empires rise and fall. People love, hate, build, destroy. Not because gods will it, but because we do.

So we must ask—was it ever the divine hand shaping history, or was it always our own?

The God That Remains

Strip away the scriptures. Burn the altars. Let the temples crumble into dust. And what remains?

The sun still rises. The rivers still flow. The mountains stand unmoved. The wind does not pray, the trees do not kneel, the stars do not whisper hymns in the void. And yet, they exist. They endure. They shape us in ways no scripture ever could.

We were not crafted from clay by unseen hands, nor cursed by an apple plucked from a tree. We were born from the forces of nature—shaped by time, by struggle, by the silent yet relentless march of evolution. It was not a god who sculpted our minds, but the fire of survival. It was not divine will that gave us morality, but the need to live together, to thrive, to understand.

If there is a god, it is not the one who demands obedience from ancient books. It is nature itself, indifferent yet ever-present, bound not by commandments but by the laws of existence. It does not ask for worship. It does not promise heaven. It simply is.

And so we are left with a choice: cling to the ghosts of gods long dead, or embrace the only truth that has ever mattered—the truth of the world as it is, not as we wish it to be.

Perhaps there is no judgment waiting beyond death. No eternal paradise. No promised justice.

But there is something else.

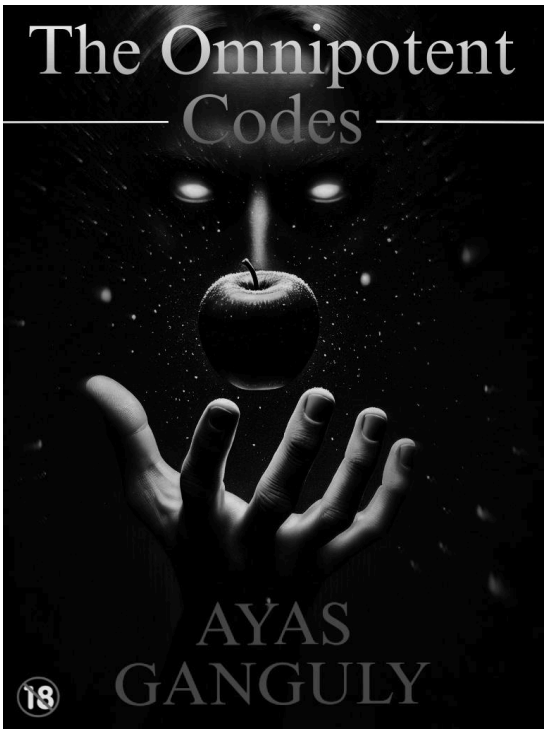
Life, fleeting and precious. A mind, unchained. A world, vast and waiting.

And perhaps that has always been enough.

"Gods did not create man—man created gods to escape the burden of thinking for himself."

— Author

OTHER POCKET BOOKS BY THE AUTHOR FROM THE “CODES” SERIES



THE OMNIPOTENT CODES BY AYAS GANGULY
(PREVIOUS BOOK IN THE SERIES)

"WHEN ONE MAN SUFFERS FROM A DELUSION, IT IS CALLED INSANITY. WHEN MANY SUFFER FROM THE SAME DELUSION, IT IS CALLED RELIGION."

— Robert M. Pirsig

"NO ONE HAS EVER STOOD UPON THE HEAVENS BEFORE. NOT YOU, NOT I, NOR EVEN GODS. BUT THAT INTOLERABLE VACUUM HAS COME TO AN END. HENCEFORTH... I SHALL STAND UPON THE HEAVENS."

— Sosuke Aizen (Bleach)

THE GREATEST LIE—EXPOSED...

For thousands of years, religion has ruled through deception. It has shaped history, justified bloodshed, and enslaved billions with promises of paradise and threats of damnation. It claims to hold the answers to life's greatest questions—yet it demands blind obedience, suppresses doubt, and fears scrutiny.

RELIGION IS THE FINAL CAGE. APOSTATEISM IS THE KEY.

DARE TO OPEN THE DOOR.

18

• Religious Blasphemy. • Anti-God. • Aethism. • Mass Hysteria Exposure. • Mild Slavery and Sexual Refferences.